Eva Rossmannith, Head of Education and Outreach

Senckenberg Society of Nature Research

- Founded 1817 by citizens of Frankfurt

- Senckenberg has 8 Institutes, 300 researchers
- Collections with 45 million objects
- 3 museums: Frankfurt, Görlitz and Dresden

Senckenberg Natural History Museum Frankfurt

- Inaugurated in 1907
- ~ 440.000 visitors /year
- 6.000 qm
- Visitors: many families, school classes, scientifically interested adults, tourists

Educational program

Main aims:

to spark interest in nature/natural history,
strengthen an understanding for research and trust in science, enable cultural participation.

Variety of programs, e.g.

- School tours (~2.000/year)
- Tours and events for families
- Workshops for kids
- Popular science lectures and guided tours for adults

Learning for all

1. How can we reach those who do not visit?
 2. How can we invite people facing barriers?
 3. How can we engage visitors who don't usually join programs?
- What are the challenges?

1. How can we reach those who do not visit?

1. Outreach: Project „Forests“

- Cooperation between three museums
- Stations in the city in different areas
- Cargo bike and an artwork
- Interdisciplinary: natural science, art, and story telling perspectives
- Exchange of programs between museums.

1. Outreach: Project „Forests“

Challenge:
organize permits for setting up the station, differences in organization and payment between museums, weather conditions

1. Outreach: Meeting schools outside museum walls

- Cooperation with „lower“ education schools („Haupt- & Realschule“)
- Three dates per class: at the school (nature on schoolyard), in the forest, at the museum
- Connection to students

1. Outreach: Meeting schools outside museum walls

Challenges:
intensive coordination with teachers,
high personal capacity needed.

2. How can we make people facing social, linguistic or cognitive barriers feel welcome?

2. Reduce barriers: Inspiring and welcoming space is needed.

Aha?! Science Lab: interactive exhibition: explore, experiment, try research methods.

2. Reduce Barriers and create a sense of belonging

- Tackling loneliness among older adults
- Monthly “Museum Café” blending social interaction and science
- Objects and guided tours spark conversation

2. Reduce Barriers and create a sense of belonging

- Tackling loneliness among older adults
- Monthly “Museum Café” blending social interaction and science
- Objects and guided tours spark conversation

Challenge: How to reach the „right“ audience.

2. Reduce barriers: “Transcultural program”

- For people with limited German language skills
- Started with women in literacy and integration courses
- Increase accessibility to museums & promote cultural participation
- Simple language, welcoming environment

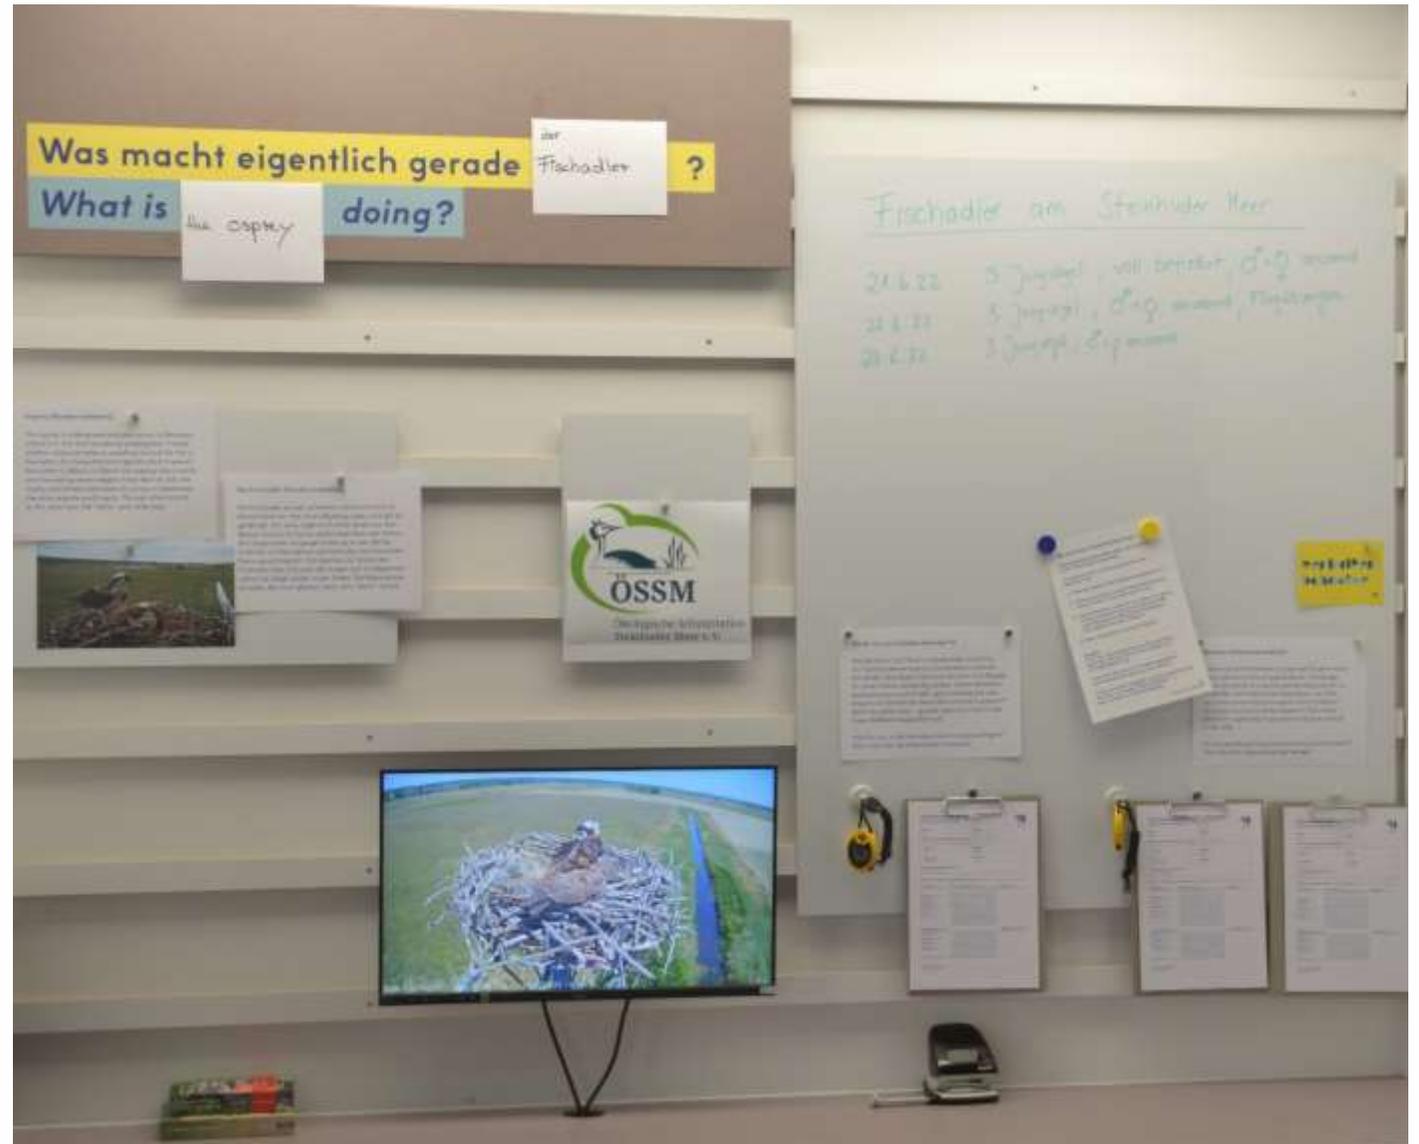

2. Reduce barriers: “Transcultural program”

- Cooperation with other museums
- Expanded to include refugee groups

Challenges: training in simple language and intercultural competence.

2. Reduce barriers: workshops for special needs students

- Participatory development with teachers
- Max 14 students, divided into 3 groups
- Workshop for students with cognitive disabilities and for students with visual impairments

2. Reduce barriers: workshops for special needs students

3. How can we engage visitors who do not join specific programs?

3. Engage visitors in Aha?! Science Lab

3. Science Live: Dialogue with Experts

- Open, drop-in format—free and flexible
- Direct interaction between scientists and visitors
- Scientists learn from dialogue
- Engage new audiences

3. Science Live: Dialogue with Experts

Challenge: to recruit and train researchers

3. Is this a target group?

- Corporate events as an entry point for museum education
- Reaching financial and economic sector professionals

Conclusion

The programs..

- .. Introduced us to new perspectives
- .. Made connection to new communities
- .. Increase visitor diversity

What is needed:

- High staffing capacity
- Training (simple language, interkultural training, coaching researchers)
- Funding
- A large and inspiring workshop space
- Good Partners

You need a great team!
